

Copyright/Disclaimer Statement

All text, images, logos and information contained on the Lindenwood web site are the intellectual property of Lindenwood unless otherwise registered, and are protected under the U.S. Copyright Act 17 U.S.C. 101-810 and international treaties. Copyright gives the owner exclusive right to reproduce, distribute, perform, display, or license a given work. Whether or not a web site includes a statement about copyright, the US copyright act provides protection for such works, and they may not be used or reproduced without permission.

It is the responsibility of all parties storing materials on the Lindenwood web sites to ensure that such material does not violate other parties' proprietary rights and does not otherwise violate law or applicable University policy. Lindenwood reserves the right to delete or make inaccessible files that contain material that is in violation of law or of applicable University policy. Lindenwood is not responsible for any errors in the material provided on the web and shall not be liable for any damages of any kind arising from the use of any material found on official Lindenwood web sites or on any other sites with Lindenwood University domain addresses. DO NOT copy or adapt the HTML that Lindenwood creates to generate pages or any other object code, source code, programming code, data, information or HTML script, as these are also covered by Lindenwood's copyright.

Links to Other Sites

Provision of links from official Lindenwood web sites to sites located outside of the Lindenwood University domain does not imply endorsement or credibility of the service, information, or product offered through the linked sites. Web developers should avoid the following: creating links to other websites that the developer knows contains infringing or defamatory material; inserting from other web sites inline images or graphics into Lindenwood HTML documents; and framing as a means of linking web sites.

Respect for Copyrights of Digital Materials and Software

It is the policy of Lindenwood University to respect the copyright protections given by federal law to owners of digital materials and software. It is against University policy for faculty, staff, or students to use University equipment or services to access, use, copy or otherwise reproduce, or make available to others any copyright-protected digital materials or software except as permitted under copyright law (especially with respect to "fair use") or specific license.

The software provided through the University for use by faculty, staff, and students may be used only on computing equipment as specified in the various software licenses.

The University regards violation of this policy as a serious matter, and any such violation is without its consent and is subject to disciplinary action. Repeated violations will result in loss of computing privileges, among other sanctions.

Privacy Notice

Commitment to Privacy

Individuals' privacy is important to the Lindenwood. To better protect your privacy we provide this notice explaining our online information policy and practices. To make this notice easy to find, we make it available through a link that can be found on every page found within the Lindenwood web site.

Notice About the Information We Collect

This notice applies to all information collected by or submitted to official University of Virginia web sites. The following information explains the Internet privacy policy and practices that Darden has adopted for its official web sites. In legal terms, it shall not be construed as a contractual promise, and Darden reserves the right to amend it at any time without notice.

The University uses web traffic analysis tools to analyze patterns of use on the Lindenwood.edu web site. These tools do not create individual profiles for visitors and only collect aggregate data.

The Way We Use Information

We may use non-identifying and aggregate information to better design our web site. For example, we may report that X number of individuals visited a certain area on our web site, or that Y number of men and Z number of women filled out our registration form, but we would not disclose anything that could be used to identify those individuals.

We never use or share the personally identifiable information provided to us online in ways unrelated to the ones described above without a clear notice on the particular site and without also providing you an opportunity to opt-out or otherwise prohibit such unrelated uses.